Missouri Lady Suffered Until She Tried Cardui—Says "Result Was Surprising"—Got Along Fine, Became Normal and Healthy.

Springfield Mo.—"My back was so weak I could hardly stand up, and I would have bearing-down pains and was not well at any time," says Mrs. D. V. Williams, wife of a well-known farmer on Route 6, this place. "I kept getting headaches and having to go to bed," continues Mrs. Williams describing the troubles from which she obtained relief through the use of Cardui. "My husband, having heard of Cardui, proposed getting it for me."

"I saw after taking some Cardui... that I was improving. The result was surprising. I felt like a different person."

"Later I suffered from weakness and weak back, and felt all run-down. I did not rest well at night. I was so nervous and cross. My husband said he would get me some Cardui, which he did. It strengthened me. My doctor said I got along fine. I was in good healthy condition. I cannot say too much for it."

Thousands of women have suffered as Mrs. Williams describes, until they found relief from the use of Cardui. Since it has helped so many, you should not hesitate to try Cardui if troubled with womanly ailments. For sale everywhere. E. S.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1922.

A story is told of a Belgian farmer who came to this country and was asked if he could make a living on ten acres of land. "I don't know," he replied. "I used to make a good living on five acres in the old country, but I don't know if I can successfully cultivate ten acres." He was unaccustomed to our wasteful and inefficient methods of farming. There is a lesson in this for young men who want to own farms but think they can never buy large tracts of land. A few acres, well tilled, will pay far better than a big farm poorly tilled. It is better to put one's toil and skill on a few acres than to scatter it over many acres. Many farmers in America would be better off if they owned just half, or even less than half, of the land they are now trying to cultivate. They would become more independent every year instead of becoming poorer.

Man in the various trades used to pride themselves on the excellence of their work. There was a great deal of rivalry along this line and it was wholesome and stimulating. The better the workman, the higher he stood in the esteem not only of his employers but of his fellow-workmen. Now the tendency is to strive for shorter hours, increased wages and improved working conditions which are to be desired, of course, but in striving for them, have we not lost sight of the other thing? And in losing this other thing have we not lost the thing that gave men their independence and self-respect?

Our system of trial by jury is the result of an agreement for individual disarmament. It was adopted when men agreed to submit their differences to arbitration by their fellows. They were tired of the old system under which those took who would and those kept who could. When the nations of the earth adopt the same system, there will be no need for an agreement as to the size of armaments, for then armaments will not be needed. We can then scrap our navies and demobilize our armies. We should have a binding agreement to submit national differences to arbitration, and to abide by the decision of the arbitrators, and then we will get somewhere. We can do this through the League of Nations, but not through disarmament conferences. This ought to be clear to those even in the kindergarten class of statesmanship.

T. Ed Merritt Dies Suddenly. T. Ed Merritt, former Fort Mill citizen, who had lived in Rock Hill for the last ten years, died suddenly at his home in that city Sunday night, heart disease being given as the cause of his death. Mr. Merritt was about 44 years old and up to the time he moved to Rock Hill had spent his entire life in Fort Mill. He was a son of the late S. N. Merritt and was reared on his father's farm in Fort Mill township. He was a member of Catawba lodge, No. 56, A. F. M., Fort Mill, and his last visit to Fort Mill was to attend a few weeks ago the annual banquet of the lodge. Mr. Merritt is survived by his widow, who was Miss Lula Mangum, to whom he was married in Fort Mill about 22 years ago, two brothers, Sam Merritt and Monroe Merritt, and a number of sisters. The funeral will be held in Rock Hill today and will be with Masonic honors.

Tuesday Day of Publication. For the next six weeks or, to be exact, during the session of the General Assembly which began today, The Times will be issued on Tuesdays instead of Thursdays. During the absence of the publisher in attending the session of the General Assembly, the business office of The Times will be in charge of B. W. Braden.

Loss of the equipment for the headquarters company of the 10th Cavalry, S. C. N. G., located at Fort Mill, of which Arthur C. Lytle is the commanding officer, has been received. The statement recently made, by a military officer, that the value of the equipment of the company was $15,000.

An exceptionally interesting musical program has been arranged for the services to be held next Sunday evening at St. John's Methodist church.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1922.

One of the first acts of the new council, if precedent is followed, will be the election of a chief of police, for which there are a number of applicants. There seems to be little doubt that the official, whoever he may be, will serve the town at a smaller salary than has been paid for the last two years, several of the men who are to compose the new council having stated that the town could not afford to pay the old salary, $1,800 per year, and that they were in favor of paying not more than $100 per month. According to the report of the town clerk published in The Times this week $730 was collected during the last year in fines by the police department, from which, however, is to be deducted refunds amounting to about $25.

Still another matter of more or less general interest which is expected to claim the early attention of the new council is the reorganization of the sanitary department, about which there has been much complaint for several months. The sanitary tax collected by the town during the last year amounted to $1,566.05, while the expenditures for the department exceeded the receipts by $247.10. Many think the department should be self-supporting and that with the proper supervision the service the town is now getting would be much improved.

Junior Order in Session. King's Mountain district council Jr. Order United American Mechanics, composed of the councils of Chester, Union and York counties, convened for its quarterly session with Wade Hampton council, Rock Hill, Thursday evening, January 5. T. A. Mills, A. L. Parks, Shelley Sutton and the Rev. J. W. H. Dyches represented Fort Mill council at the meeting.

An able address was delivered by Prof. R. C. Burts, superintendent of the Rock Hill schools, favorable to the policy of free text-books for the children in the public schools of South Carolina. The district council, by unanimous vote, went on record as favoring free text-books for the State and asked the State's representatives and senators in Congress to vote for the passage of the Sterling-Towner education bill now pending before that body. The next meeting of the district council will be held in Union on the evening of the first Thursday in April.

Free Garden Seed. Congressman W. F. Stevenson has had sent to The Times office for local distribution several hundred packages of government garden seed which will be given to householders of this community as long as the supply lasts, the distribution to begin at The Times office Saturday afternoon. Two years ago there was a similar distribution of garden seed for Mr. Stevenson at The Times office in connection with which foolish question No. 1 was, "Do you think the seed will grow?" Neither the congressman nor The Times guarantees the quality of the seed nor is either responsible for the quantity or variety to be distributed. The government appropriates about $200,000 yearly for a free distribution of garden and flower seed. The seed at The Times office is a part of the 1922 supply. No seed will be given to children.

Mrs. D. K. Hall Dead. Mrs. Olivia Hall, wife of D. K. Hall, well known Pleasant Valley citizen, died at her home in that community Thursday night. Due to a fall in which she sustained serious injuries, Mrs. Hall had been confined to her room for several months. Mrs. Hall was 71 years old and was reared in Fort Mill township. She was the daughter of the late Andy Bennett, who died many years ago. She had been a member of Pleasant Valley Methodist church for many years. Beside her husband, Mrs. Hall is survived by four sons and one daughter, John Hall, Walter Hall, Arthur Hall, Eugene Hall and Mrs. Banks McGinn, and a number of other relatives, some of whom live in Fort Mill, one being E. L. Bennett. Following the funeral services, interment was in the Harrison churchyard Friday afternoon.

An exceptionally interesting musical program has been arranged for the services to be held next Sunday evening at St. John's Methodist church.
